DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

- 1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 02 May 2007 has been entered.
- 2. By the above submission, Claims 5, 7, 8, and 13-15 have been amended. New Claims 16-18 have been added. No claims have been canceled. Claims 3 and 4 were previously withdrawn from further consideration as drawn to a nonelected invention. Claims 5-18 are currently under consideration in the present application.

Election/Restrictions

3. Except as further noted below, this application is in condition for allowance except for the presence of claims 3 and 4 directed to an invention non-elected without traverse. Accordingly, claims 3 and 4 have been cancelled.

Art Unit: 2137

Specification

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

The specification does not appear to contain a section with a "Brief Description of the Drawings" as required by 37 CFR 1.74, nor does there appear to be any reference in the specification to the drawing Figure whatsoever. See MPEP § 608.01(f).

Appropriate correction is required. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any other errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Objections

5. Claims 6 and 11 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 6 recites the limitation "the transmission key is known to subscriber T_j ". It appears that the phrase should instead read "the transmission key is known to each subscriber T_j " for increased clarity.

Similarly, Claim 11 recites the limitation "the transmission key is known to a respective subscriber T_j "; it appears that this should instead read "the transmission key is known to each respective subscriber T_j " for increased clarity.

Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 6. Claims 5, 7-10, and 12-18 are allowed.
- 7. Claims 6 and 11 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the objections set forth in this Office action.
- 8. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Each of independent Claims 5, 7, and 13 are directed to methods for establishing a common encryption key within a group of subscribers. The methods each include subscribers calculating messages using an element of a group and a respective random number, sending these messages to each other subscriber, encrypting the received messages at a first coordinating subscriber to generate pairwise transmission keys between the coordinating subscriber and each other subscriber, sending messages to each subscriber encrypted with the respective transmission key, and using all of the received messages or derivations thereof to calculate a common key, which is then used to encrypt and send messages between members of the group. Various cited prior art describes conference keying processes. For example, Ingemarsson et al, "A Conference Key Distribution System", discloses a system for establishing a key in a group derived from Diffie Hellman key distribution, and Laih et al, "On the Design of Conference Key Distribution Systems for the Broadcasting Networks, analyzes several group key establishment protocols and discloses a system for establishing a group key based on a threshold scheme. Both Ingemarsson and Laih were cited in the Office action mailed 10 August 2006. However, while these references describe general conference keying schemes, they do not disclose the specifics of the claimed methods.

Further, Steiner et al, "Diffie-Hellman Key Distribution Extended to Group Communication" describes several group key establishment protocols, including the Burmester/Desmedt Protocol (see page 35, section 4.2), which also has two rounds like the claimed methods; however, this protocol differs from the claimed methods in the contents of the actual messages sent, and further does not use a coordinating first subscriber. Finally, Yasinsac et al, "A Family of Protocols for Group Key Generation in Ad Hoc Networks", does disclose a group key agreement protocol that has two rounds and uses a coordinating first subscriber (see page 3); however, Yasinsac does not qualify as prior art for the present application.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

- 9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
 - a. Caronni et al, US Patent 6195751, discloses a group key establishment protocol for secure multicasting.

Art Unit: 2137

b. Srivastava, US Patent 6987855, discloses a key exchange protocol within broadcast groups based on Diffie-Hellman.

10. This application is in condition for allowance except for the following formal matters:

The disclosure is objected to under 37 CFR 1.74, and Claims 6 and 11 are objected to for informalities as detailed above.

Prosecution on the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213, (Comm'r Pat. 1935).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire TWO MONTHS from the mailing date of this letter.
